Have you ever thought of using a supermarket till chit in class ?

You have a real authentic piece of English life in your hands to bring life to the classroom.

Allow 10 minutes for an oral activity.

You could use it to :

<dl class='spip_document_483 spip_documents spip_documents_right' style='float:right;width:367px;'>

Till Chit 1

- ▶ Revise food vocabulary.
- ▶ Activate revision on some , any, not....any
- ▶ Create a meaningful situation of the Preterit
: « I bought, I didn't buy, Did you buy ?
- ▶ Revise How much, How many ? + was and were

Some suggestions :

- ▶ Start by getting your pupils to try and remember as much food vocabulary as possible.
- ▶ Take the opportunity
 - o to give abbreviations such as tom for tomato.
 - o To show the different sorts of milk : semi-skimmed etc
- ▶ You could make groups according to the number of pupils in your class.
- ▶ or you can start by saying : "I went shopping when I was on holiday in England ! Find out what I bought. You can only ask yes/no questions".
Write an example on the board.
- ▶ Recap by getting the class to say you bought.. you didn't buy ? Prompt with "What about ?"

(at the same time it makes pupils listen to each other.

- ▶ If you gave the chit to a pupil, you could get the others to ask him or her what the teacher bought. And then all you have to do is "direct operations !"

You could always finish with a short paragraph in exercise books : « She bought some..., but she didn't buy any ..., etc. »
